

Professor V.P. Lougovois holds a BSc in Chemistry (National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, 1979) and a PhD in Food Science (University of Leeds, UK, 1982). He has more than 35 years of teaching experience in tertiary education Institutions (Technological Educational Institution of Athens and University of West Attica), in the fields of “Fisheries Science and Technology”, “Food Chemistry” and “Food Sensory Assessment”. He has acted as coordinator/scientifically responsible in national and EU-funded research programs and contracted projects, also providing services as a consultant and technical advisor to the Food Industry, for more than 25 years. He has published 25 papers in peer-reviewed scientific journals (1380 citations, Google Scholar), 22 research articles in international conference proceedings, one book chapter and a large number of scientific and technical reports. Prof. V.P. Lougovois has served as a member of the Food Experts’ Committee, General Secretariat of Greek State Supplies (1987-1990), as well as a member of the Scientific Council, Hellenic Food Safety Authority (EFET, 2006-09). He is a professional member of the Institute of Food Science and Technology (IFST, UK) and member of the Editorial Board, “International Journal of Food Science and Technology”.

Major areas of research interest and expertise: Processing technology, quality and safety of fish and fishery products.